ROSS POLLOCK TO AGAIN GO TO SAN DOMINGO

WILL ESTABLISH METEOROLOGICAL
STATION AT PORT AU
PRINCE AND GO THENCE TO HIS FORMER STATION.

Ross E. Pollock, who has been serving at the Savannah weather station for several months, is again to go to Santo Domingo, where he is to assume charge of the station there during what is known as the hurricane period. Mr. Pollock has been ordered to the central office at Washington and from there goes to Port au Prince, where he is to install some meteorological instruments. From there he goes to Santo Domingo for the season. Speaking of the changes in the office there, the Savannah News of recent date contained the following: "Several changes will be made in the personnel of the United States Weather Bureau at Savannah and for several weeks there will be unfamiliar faces in the office in the government building."

"Mr. H. B. Boyer, the local forecaster, will leave for a month's stay at Washington. Mr. W. F. Clark, assistant observer, will soon leave to take charge of the office at Anniston, Ala. and Mr. R. E. Pollock, observer, will be sent to Santo Domingo to look after the weather during the hurricane season. The announcement of successors to the three officers has not been made."

Watching For Hurricanes.
"Mr. R. E. Pollock, who will leave during the latter part of May for Hayti or Santo Domingo, has been stationed in the Savannah office for several months, but was in charge of the Santo Domingo office last summer during the hurricane season."

"It is perhaps not generally known that the United States government maintains a number of weather bureau stations in foreign countries. It has a complete belt of stations surrounding the Caribbean sea and the Westward and Leeward Islands, which furnish prompt information regarding the brewing of hurricanes. The Caribbean sea is a veritable 'cave of the winds,' where many hurricanes are formed, and the system by which prompt information is sent from the Southern stations has been of great service to shipping and other interests."

Work During the Summer.
"The hurricane season begins in July and continues through October, and the stations in the southern seas are kept in operation only during those months. The United States government has gained permission from the nations controlling the islands to maintain weather service stations in their territory and in exchange the weather department furnishes the different governments information in regard to the weather. The reports are cabled direct to the Washington office and from there are disseminated to all parts of the country and to the island stations under American control."

"The system of stations begins at Curacao, a Dutch possession lying about forty miles off the coast of Venezuela, and includes St. Thomas, an American possession; Barbadoes, governed by the British; Bridgetown, a Barbadoes station; San Juan, Porto Rico; Havana, Santiago, Camaguey and Cienfuegos, Cuba."

"A system of interchangeable reports with Yucatan and Mexico proper completes the list. The Mexican government maintains a weather service and exchanges reports from the hurricane district with the United States department."

and that he has neither a license or a certificate from the State Board of Health.

In the report of the loss of the smack Florida, it was stated that Scotty Campbell was a member of the crew. This should have been Willis Mitchell, who had just left the navy and who is a half-brother of Campbell.

FIRST MEETING IN NEW ROOMS

CONCORDIA CLUB HELD SESSION
IN NEW QUARTERS ON EAST
INTENDENCIA STREET.

The first meeting of the Concordia Club, since its removal from West Government street to the new quarters on East Intendencia street, was held in the parlors Thursday night, when there was a large attendance of members, and much business for the benefit of the club was transacted.

The membership decided to install considerable new furniture, among which will be a new pool table and fixtures for the ladies parlors and reception rooms.

Since the club has moved to larger and more commodious quarters the membership has been increasing rapidly, nine new members being elected at the meeting of Thursday night.

How To Ward off Old Age.
The most successful way of warding off the approach of old age is to maintain vigorous digestion. This can be done by eating only food suited to your age and occupation, and when any disorder of the stomach appears take a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets to correct it. If you have a weak stomach or are troubled with indigestion, you will find these Tablets to be just what you need. For sale by all druggists.

CONTRACTORS ENJOYED DAY

NO WORK BEING DONE SO THEY WENT ACROSS THE BAY AND FISHED YESTERDAY.

The members of the Contractors Association, which is composed of the leading builders of the city, spent yesterday across the bay on a fishing trip. They left the city early yesterday morning, and did not return until late in the afternoon. Each reported having had an excellent time, being successful in landing a large number of good catches.

The party went to the old Sexauer place, and at noon yesterday an excellent lunch was served. The contractors are doing nothing now, and decided to spend a day of enjoyment across the bay.

The trouble between the contractors and members of the Carpenters and Joiners is still on, and there are no signs of a settlement. Both are determined not to give in, and the prospects are that the present differences will not be adjusted for several weeks.

Legacy.
A story that comes from Ireland relates to the custom among farmers there of depositing money in the bank in the joint names of husband and wife, so that when one dies the survivor can draw out the money without any legal formalities.

To a farmer who recently made application for money deposited for himself and his wife the manager asked: "Why, Pat, how can this be? It is not much more than a year since you came with a similar application on the death of your wife."

"Well, your honor," was the reply, "I'm a bit lucky wid women."—Harper's Weekly.

The Perfect Prescription.
A patient at a metropolitan hospital goes away best satisfied when he is given something to drink out of a bottle. The drinking, according to ancient ritual, must not be less often than three times a day and the ceremony must have some reference to meals. The draft to be efficient should be colored. It must have a marked odor, so that he may invite his friends to smell it. It should be loathsome to the taste, so that the taking of it may call for some heroism. Above all, it needs to possess an evil looking sediment which will require a formal shaking of the vial—London Hospital.

Paternal Confidence.
The Young Man (with some embarrassment)—There is one question you haven't asked me yet, Mr. Huppop. You haven't wanted to know whether or not I think I can make a living for my daughter. The Other Man—That isn't necessary, Henry. She'll see that you make the living, all right, if she's at all like her mother—and I think she is.—Chicago Tribune.

Made Up For It.
"Do you remember, love, twenty years ago we sat one moonlight night by this lake? I had my head on your breast and for an hour spoke not a word."

"Yes, and it has never happened again since."

His Own Way.
"Do you ever have your own way?" asked the cynical near relative.

"Yes," answered Mr. Meekton. "Sometimes I have my own way, but not without consulting Henrietta very carefully before I make up my mind."

Getting Up Courage.
Knicker-Jones and his wife are singing "The Marseillaise." Bocker—Yes; they are bracing up to discharge the cook.—Harper's Bazar.

ART EXHIBIT WILL CLOSE

PICTURES WILL BE EXHIBITED
THIS MORNING FOR LAST TIME IN PENSACOLA.

The Art Exhibit at the High School will be open to-day from 8:30 to 12 o'clock. This afternoon the pictures will be packed and shipped to the president of the graduating class of the High School at Athens, Ga. Those who have not yet seen the exhibit should take advantage of this last opportunity to see this fine collection of pictures. Thus far the interest in the exhibit has been confined chiefly to the pupils and teachers of School No. 1.

It is hoped that a larger number of grown up people will visit the exhibit today before it closes. The pictures are really worth seeing as attested by the fact that Miss Chandler, the well known Pensacola artist, has spent two afternoons enjoying them.

Owing to poor patronage the exhibit will little more than pay expenses. It was hoped that enough money might be taken in to make a start, at least, toward supplying the schools with good pictures. That this will not be accomplished this year is, by no means, a cause for discouragement to those who have been responsible for bringing the exhibit to Pensacola. It matters not what the difficulties may be they will yet have good pictures in the schools, and whenever the opportunity offers they will bring the Horace K. Turner pictures back to Pensacola.

While a billious attack is decidedly unpleasant it is quickly over when Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are used. For sale by all druggists.

CHARGED WITH STEALING CLOTHING FROM RELATIVES.

Bertha Davis, a colored girl, was taken into custody Thursday night, and yesterday turned over to the county authorities upon the charge of larceny of a lot of clothing. The girl, who is about fourteen years of age, is charged with having entered the rooms of her grandmother and sister and made away with a quantity of clothing, secreting the same in a house on North Davis street.

Why Suffer From Rheumatism?
Why suffer from rheumatism when one application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm will relieve the pain? The quick relief which this liniment affords makes rest and sleep possible, and that alone is worth many times its cost. Many who have used it hoping only for a short relief from suffering have been happily surprised to find that after awhile the relief became permanent. Mrs. V. H. Leggett, of Yum Yum, Tennessee, U. S. A., writes: "I am a great sufferer from rheumatism all over from head to foot, and Chamberlain's Pain Balm is the only thing that will relieve the pain." For sale by all druggists.

OPPOSE MARCH OF PROGRESS

OPponents of MR. BLISS LIKEN-
ED TO HOWLING SAVAGES OF EARLY DAYS IN THE WEST.

Editor Pensacola Journal:

If I may be permitted the space, I should like to make a few remarks relative to "Veritas's" letter in the Daily News of Thursday. He claims my letter to be "remarkable and peculiar." That is one point we certainly will agree upon; for a public letter advocating a progressive, up-to-date city government in Pensacola is something our friend Veritas apparently cannot understand, and doubtless looks to him as peculiar and remarkable, as the first departure from the stage coach to the railroad train did to the Indians, and I prophesy that his own and his friends' puny efforts to block this growing sentiment will prove as disastrous to them and as ineffective as the efforts of the Indians to stop the train. As "Veritas" may not have heard of this incident, it may not be out of place to relate it, that he may take warning in time. The Indians determined to stop the train, so procuring a long green hide lariar, and proceeded to stretch it across the track. Their warriors resolutely grasped each end and waited for the appearance of the fire devil. Presently a rumbling in the distance was heard—just as we hear the rumblings of the economic revolution in these days—and the warriors grasped the rope with a firmer grip. Along came the hissing monster, contemptuously ignoring the frail impediment to its triumphant progress. With a shriek it dashed into the opposing line, and for a moment the air was darkened with soaring warriors, tomahawks, bows, arrows, and other paraphernalia, and when the disconcerted opponents to the march of progress had disentangled themselves from the debris, the monstrous train was majestically rushing forward in the rosy distance, bliss unalloyed reigning supreme aboard while the frightened Indians wondered what had happened, whether a cyclone or a landslide.

Moral—Get out of the way of the march of progress.

"Veritas" apparently is not posted on improvements or he would not designate by that name the temporary covering of mud or clay to which the streets he mentions have been subjected. As well claim great improvements every time a housewife sprinkles a little water in front of her door to lay the dust. His assertion that it is possible to drive over "almost" the entire sections of the city without getting off a hard and improved street shows "Veritas" to be a humorist of no mean capacity. The word "almost," of course, covers a multitude of sins, or undefined pretensions. However, if there has an improvement been made, that is honest, permanent improvement, of benefit to the whole of the people and not to a favored few, I am glad to hear of it and hope to hear of more in the future, and for this reason I would support Mr. Bliss, not because I have any personal acquaintance with him, but because, as I said before, I confidently believe him to be an ardent and honest advocate of a progressive, up-to-date city government. See?
